Houston MediaSource Intern Program

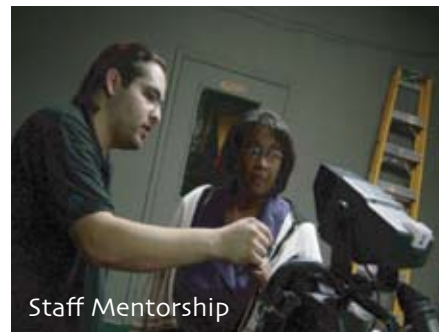

Interns at Houston MediaSource go on to local news stations, create independent films, write award winning scripts, and find success in everything they do.

An intern at Houston MediaSource doesn't get coffee and make copies. An intern at HMS gets hands-on training, real world experience, and real responsibility. Local TV stations would never dream of airing intern work. HMS-TV has a weekly live show devoted to Production Interns' video projects. Education interns will give back to the community teaching youth production courses. Journalism interns will bring the power of TV to the streets. Your projects will be seen. Your work will help the community grow. Your voices will be heard. Your experiences will prepare you for the future.

Real experience is invaluable. Houston MediaSource internships fully prepare you for the professional world.
