WHAT ARE YOU DOING THIS SUMMER?

Houston MediaSource (HMS) is Houston's nonprofit Community Media Center and Public Access Television Channel. We want to change the relationship of our community's youth from passive viewers to active producers in television media. The Youth Media Camp not only provides the technical and creative skills needed to produce television media, but it will also show the students how to look at it differently. All sessions are student driven, with the instructors acting as facilitators and technical trainers. Students will learn media literacy, story planning, camera techniques, and editing as well as the entire production process, from pre-planning to production to post-production. At the end of each session a final production will be completed by the group and premiered on HMS-TV.
